LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

As Christmas approaches and I pull out my boxes of decorations, I renew old friendships. People I love and some that I miss. I pulled out a red crochet doily made by my sweet elderly friend Edith, who passed away shortly afterwards. She told me it would be the last one she'd make, as the color red was too hard on her eyes. Edith was 94. Another box was marked "Nativity". My friend Marlys was into ceramics, had her own kiln. So for our wedding gift we received a nativity set, camels and all, her husband had made a manger to go with it. Marlys died at age 52. On my table with my red doily sits my Christmas tree collection plus a wooden one that my brother made for me in the 70's. You might be relieved to know he is still with us. SO, as this Christmas season arrives and we look forward to the parties and friends, many busy wrapping gifts or baking cookies, maybe getting those cards out or getting ready to head north to be with those grand children who are looking forward to Santa with his bag of gifts. Christians world wide are looking for that star in the sky announcing the arrival of a new born king, the "true" meaning of Christmas. I do hope that like me, some of you are renewing old friends, happier times, memories of those no longer with us, praying for those dealing with serious health issues and wishing each other a Merry Christmas and a New Year, filled with Hope, Love and Peace. May 2013 be a happy one, a healthy one for each of you here in Port Carlos Cove and God bless.

December Breakfast

The December breakfast was held on a beautiful day. Christmas music filled the air and the volunteers were on the ready. Mary Ann and Bob Wiesenauer were at the table ready to collect the money. Joe Wilaby was selling the 50/50 chances. Port Carlos' own Martha Stewart, Carolyn Hartman had agreed to bake cinnabons for the breakfast. Our pancake turners were Mike Becker and Vern Plante with Tom Edmundson as cook in training.

Our French toast expert was Gloria Longo, and Diane Kean with her assistant Rita Plante, were busy scrambling eggs. Rick Hobot was our "sausage" man and then we had Carol and Paul Lenz and Pete Longo who cleaned, coffee'd and served juice. Everyone worked hard but our turn out was not one of the best. Stuff happens, but at the end of the day Pete and Gloria had won the 50/50 and we did make a profit of over $100 for the Civic Association. I thank each and every one who helped, from the Men's Club for setting up and Glenn who dealt with the floor the next morning to my friends who volunteered to help host this breakfast.

HARRY CHAPIN FOOD SHELF

I think most of us are happy with our lives. We might not have "everything" but we are in a good place and most of us have lived the good life. However, there are more people than ever who are still struggling to make ends meet.

Senior's who have to decide at the end of the month whether to buy food or pay a bill, maybe get a prescription. Children who are lucky enough to get a meal at school as there will be no supper for them at home. Men who look daily for a job so they feel like the "man" of the house, one who can take care of their families. There are SO many out there, and with the holiday approaching

PLEASE remember those less fortunate. 37 pounds of food was delivered after Thanksgiving, but our box looks pretty empty now. There are envelopes on our Harry Chapin box which will hold a check or cash. Little or Big, every little bit helps, so I ask you to think about how blessed we are here in Paradise. To those of you who have already given, I thank you.

Thanksgiving 2012 was fantastic. 54 residents and friends came together for a potluck of epic proportions, and we also delivered dinner to several PCC residents that were unable to attend. Carolyn Hartman, Barb Lange, Nancy Wilaby, and Michelle Archer roasted and carved six turkeys, and Mike Becker hammed it up with the ham. Great salads, vegetables, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, and desserts completed the feast. It was a great day to give thanks, and we're already looking forward to next year.

29 people from Port Carlos Cove attended the 22nd Keyboard Festival featuring Paul Todd, Doug Cameron, Church choir and many other very talented musicians on Sunday December 2nd at the First Assembly of God Church.

Doug Cameron's 6 year old son stole the show as he played the violin and sang.

He got a standing ovation. We were entertained, inspired and enjoyed several laughs throughout the evening which put us all in the true spirit of Christmas. The evening came to a close with a dinner at Mimi's Restaurant with everyone enjoying good food, laughter and conversation. We will have to make this an annual event. Jane Lozier
